

Dean's Update

Jay L. Hess, M.D., Ph.D., M.H.S.A, dean of the IU School of Medicine
Vice President for University Clinical Affairs, Indiana University

Administrative Reorganization to better meet the needs of the faculty and the school

Stephen P. Bogdewic, PhD, executive vice dean, IU School of Medicine – No increase in FTEs

Assist with recruitment and onboarding of senior leaders (chairs, center directors)

Working with Chairs to develop goals

Annual review of Chairs

Alignment with IUH – role of Chairs and all faculty and staff

Diane Iseminger, chief of staff, IU School of Medicine/Office of University Clinical Affairs

Communication – internal and external

Mary Dankoski – Mary E. Dankoski, PhD, executive associate dean of Faculty Affairs and Professional Development

Recruitment

Chair Searches - Internal Medicine, Radiation Oncology, Radiology, Medical & Molecular Genetics, Pharmacology/Toxicology

Center Directors for Muncie and South Bend

Only recruiting people we are excited about

Being strategic – not looking to just fill the position

Input from department is important

Clinical

Focusing on Quality & Safety within IUH

Engaging those who affect outcomes - Faculty, staff, fellows, residents

Department Chairs attended IUH retreat

Reviewing the Faculty Vitality Survey

Education

1. Renovation of Regenstrief to become a Health Education Building for all Health Sciences Schools
$75 million Legislative ask

Medical school space – classrooms, possibly the admissions office

Faculty Affairs and Professional Development

Fairbanks School of Public Health

2. LCME

Engaged faculty as well as sought outside expertise and reached conclusion to delay implementation of new curriculum. LCME self-study will help inform new curriculum.

FSC – update on LCME self-study will be a standing agenda item

Get priorities and input from all stakeholders

3. Curriculum Reform 2017 implementation

Research

NIH funding and market share is increasing

Dunlap Building received $25 million from state to renovate lab space